Catherine Russell

TONIGHT

Catherine Russell is that rarest of entities—a genuine jazz and blues singer—who can sing virtually anything. Her voice is full-blown femininity incarnate, a dusky, stalwart, and soulful instrument that radiates interpretive power yet remains touchingly vulnerable.

“In a varied career, Russell has established herself as a force in the jazz, blues and pop spheres.”

Ann Hampton Callaway: “The Ella Century”

Ann Hampton Callaway is one of the leading champions of the great American Songbook. She is best known for her Tony-nominated performance in the Broadway musical Swing! and for writing and singing the theme song to the hit TV series The Nanny. Callaway is also a platinum award-winning writer whose songs are featured on seven of Barbra Streisand’s recent albums.

Feufollet

Feufollet is Americana at its finest—reverential but wholly nonconformists. The band takes Cajun, honky-tonk, and string-band music as their starting point, and keeps an open mind about where their song craft will lead them.

“For more than a decade, Lafayette’s Feufollet has waved the flag for Cajun music, whether planting its feet in its roots or pushing its boundaries.”

Sidestepper

The band's legendary shows have taken the Colombian music scene to new levels of euphoric joy.

The group's latest album "shimmers and percolates with guitars and Afro-Colombian percussion, it's sung in Spanish and English, it looks forward constantly and, once again, it illuminates a musical path likely to influence the next generation of Colombian innovators."

Delta Rae

Opening Act: Liz Longley

The earthy, familial, alt-pop band Delta Rae skillfully juggles gospel-tinged, country-rock, sensual blue-eyed soul, and harmony-laden Americana music, resulting in an infectious, radio-ready sound that falls somewhere between Nickel Creek and Adele.

"If Fleetwood Mac came up in North Carolina, they might resemble Delta Rae."
