Learn from industry leaders that have taken different approaches to scaling their business from bio-life science and healthcare to emerging technology sectors.

The City of Scottsdale invites you to participate in an exclusive event featuring keynote Nathan Mortensen, Principal at Tallwave Capital. Nate will discuss the state of venture capital, perceptions about raising capital and local resources in the entrepreneurial ecosystem. Afterward he will facilitate a panel discussion with local companies in various stages of growth.

Tallwave Capital is a Scottsdale-based venture capital company focused on early-stage investor, making pre-seed, seed and post-seed investments. Using the principles of lean design, Tallwave Capital seeks to make efficient investments in companies with a defined product market fit and cogent go-to-market strategy.
