10 Tips To Help Keep Your Family Safe Around Water This Summer

As the summer approaches, children all over the country are looking forward to beating the heat by jumping into the water and soaking up the sun. While pools, lakes and rivers can bring a great deal of joy to people of all ages, they can also be dangerous hazards, especially in Arizona, which is ranked number two in the nation for child drownings. That's why it's important to make sure you are doing everything you can to keep everyone safe. Since May is Water Safety Awareness Month, here are 10 tips to help you avoid any water-related mishaps this summer.

1. Help your children learn about water safety-

Teaching children about water safety can provide them with basic tools to help them avoid any dangerous situations around the pool. The Y offers free water safety and drowning awareness education programs for youth and adults at several of our branches to help you get started.

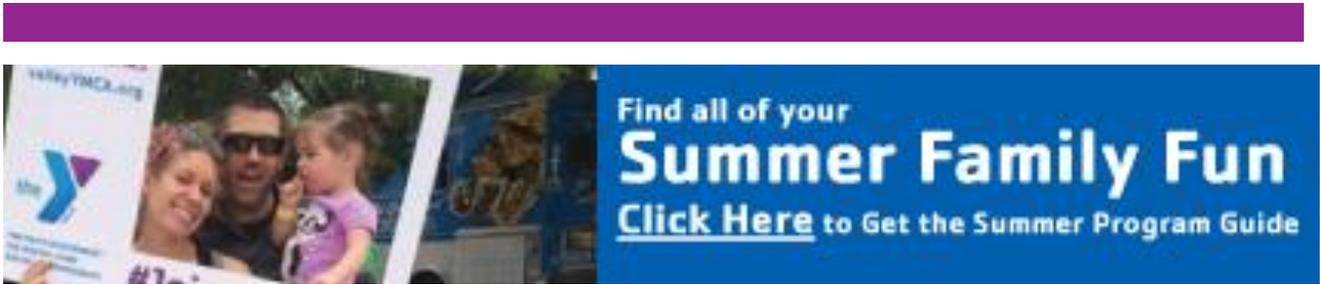

2. Take swimming lessons at the Y-

One of the first steps in preventing drownings is learning how to swim. The Y has a variety of swimming lessons and aquatics programs that can help each member of your family gain their confidence in the water. All of our classes have a 1 to 6 instructor-to-student ratio, and children as young as 6 months can take lessons.

3. Learn CPR

When someone is drowning, immediate action can be crucial in helping them survive. Taking CPR classes can help you save a victim's life in the time it takes for the paramedics...
